

Abstract of the Disclosure

A warming scarf has front and rear panels assembled to create an insulating air pocket when the scarf is worn. The front panel is larger than the rear panel and the excess fabric is gathered and pleated at the scarf's edges to "pouch" the fabric and form the air pocket.